Abstract Submission Information – ESUR 2019, Dublin

PRESENTATION FORMATS:

Participants will be able to submit their abstract as an:

Oral presentation - this will require delegates to submit an abstract and, if selected, an oral presentation will be required. All oral presentations will be 12 minutes in length which includes 3 minutes for questions.

Poster presentation - this will require delegates to submit an abstract and, if selected, a physical poster (maximum size A0) is to be prepared and displayed during the conference.

You may be offered an alternative format should your first choice not be available.

GUIDELINES FOR AUTHORS:

- Scientific and/or Educational abstracts may be submitted.
- Prospective speakers are responsible for submitting their own personal details and their abstract details on the Exordo submission system.
- Abstracts and speakers will be judged only on the basis of the information provided in Exordo at submission time.
- Successful abstract and speaker details provided at submission stage will be used for publication in the conference programme and on the conference website.
- Changes to abstracts and speakers submitted cannot be made after the submission deadline.
- Corresponding Authors are the point of contact for an abstract/presentation and are responsible for the content in the abstract/presentation in all respects. The Corresponding Author is also responsible for the submission of one final presentation slide deck for their presentation. Multiple slide decks for a presentation will NOT be accepted. Only one complete slide deck per presentation may be submitted. The corresponding author is responsible for the compilation of that singular slide deck from all contributing authors, if there is more than one author.
- Confirmed speakers/poster presenters must register for the conference before the close of the Early bird rate deadline (June 30th, 2019). Any speaker/poster presenter not registered by this date will be removed from the conference programme and replaced by another speaker/poster presenter.
- In exceptional cases the Programme Committee reserve the right to make changes to abstracts/presentations and speakers for reasons of clarity or to enhance the quality of a submission.
